George E. Via in the illustration facing p. 274, vol. XXXI, is described as sno of Mary Ann Runkle and George Via. This is an error. The father of George E. Via was Matthew Turner Via as given on p. 272.

On p. 292, vol. XXXI, is a very serious error. Rose Greenhow was not, as stated, the wife of Washington Greenhow. She was the wife of his brother, Robert.

7. Mary Blackburn married John Ballendine, early industrialist and founder of Occoquan.¹⁰ They resided at "Rockledge" on the cliffs in Fairfax County immediately across Occoquan Creek from the town of Occoquan which he founded in 1755. The many industrial activities of John Ballendine are spread upon the records of Prince William and Fairfax Counties. His will was written 19 March 1782 and proved 3 June 1786.¹¹

THE HURST FAMILY

BY MRS. J. H. CORNELIUS

THE HURSTS AND THEIR NAME

Compiled by the Media Research Bureau

The name of Hurst is said to have been derived from the residence of its first bearers at the "hurst" or wood. It is found on ancient records in the various forms of Hyrste, Hyrst, Hirste, Hirst, Herste, Herst, Hearst, Hurse, Hurste, and Hurst, of which the last is the form most generally accepted in America today.

Families of this name were to be found at early dates in the English counties of Lancaster, York, Huntington, Hertford, Sussex, Leicester, Salop, Lincoln, Essex, Cambridge, Rutland, and London and were, for the most part, of the landed gentry and yeomanry of Great Britain.

Among the earliest records of the name in England were those of Robert de la Hurste of Yorkshire in 1271, Ivo and Richard de Hirst of Huntingtongshire in 1273, John atte Hurst of the year 1302, William de la Hurst of a slightly later date, Agnes del Hyrst and William del Hirst of Yorkshire in 1379.

The Lancashire line of the family is said to have been descended from one Nicholas de Hyrst of the year 1422, who is said to have been the ancestor of Nicholas Hyrst or Hurst of that county in the latter sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries, who was the father of Robert. Nicholas, Henry, Joseph, Martha (died young), Mary, and Martha, of whom the son Nicholas was the father of a son also named Nicholas, who had issue by his wife Elizabeth of Nicholas, James, and Elizabeth.

One Hyrst of Hertfordshire is said to have been the father in the early sixteenth century of Robert and Roger, of whom the second made his home in the county of Essex and was the father of Thomas, who married

Elizabeth Michell and had issue by her of Roger and Daniel, of whom the first resided in Hertfordshire and was the father by his wife Elizabeth Glascock of a son named Thomas and several daughters; and the second also resided in Hertfordshire and was the father by his wife Martha How of Daniel and Martha and possibly of others as well.

In the latter part of the sixteenth century one John Hurst was living at London and was the father by his wife Mary Humbertson of John, William, Humberston, Isaac, Thomas, Joseph, Margaret, and Elizabeth, of whom the second was the father by his wife Mary Chancy of William, John, Humberston, and several daughters; the fourth was the father by his wife Anne King of Isaac, John, William, Humberston, Benjamin, and others; and the fifth had a son named John.

One Richard Hurst of Lincolnshire, Leicestershire, and Rutlandshire in the latter sixteenth century is said to have married Alice Dalby and to have had issue by her of Thomas, who married Anne Somershall and had Thomas, Richard, Robert, Lewis, Charles, and five daughters, of whom the first was the father by his wife Elizabeth Hodgson of a son named Lewis; the second had issue by his wife Katharine Fancourt of Richard, Lewis, Anne, and Thomas; and the third was the father by his wife Anne Briggs of a son named Thomas.

Of the Yorkshire lines of the family, the brothers Thomas, Daniel, Henry, and Samuel Hurst were living in the early seventeenth century, and the first was the father of two sons, Thomas and Jonathan, while the second had a son named Samuel; one Thomas Hurst of the middle seventeenth century is said to have married Dorothy Mirfield and to have had issue by her of, among others, Nathaniel and Jonathan; and there were also records in the latter seventeenth century of Thomas, Richard, and John Hurst of the same county.

It is not definitely known from which of the many illustrious lines of the family in England the first emigrants of the name to America were descended, but it is generally believed that all of the Hursts were of common ancestry at a remote period.

Probably the first of the name in America was Tobias Hurst, who emigrated from England to Elizabeth City, Va., in 1618 at the age of twenty-two, but no definite record of his immediate family or descendants has been found.

Among the first emigrants of the name to New England was James Hurst, who came to Plymouth, Mass., about 1632 and was one of the early purchasers at Dartmouth. By his wife (believed to have been named Catherine) he was the father of at least one child, a daughter named Patience, and possibly of others as well.

One William Hurst was married at Sandwich, Mass., in 1640 to Catharine Thurston, but died the following year, probably without issue.

Sometime before 1678 one Thomas Hurst settled at Hadley, Mass.,

THE HURST FAMILY

and later removed to Deerfield, Conn., where he was the father of six children, Sarah, Elizabeth, Thomas, Hannah, Ebenezer, and Benoni.

About 1690 one John Hurst made his home at Boston, Mass., and in that year had issue by his wife Alice of a son named Richard.

The descendants of these and later branches of the family in America have spread to practically every state of the Union, and have aided as much in the growth of the country as their ancestors aided in the founding of the nation. They have been noted for their energy, industry, integrity, piety, perseverance, fortitude, patience, courage, and loyalty.

Among those of the Hursts who fought in the Revolutionary War were Captain Hurst (Christian name unknown), who was taken prisoner at Long Island in 1776, and numerous others in the ranks of the various New England and Southern colonies.

John, Robert, William, Nicholas, Henry, James, Roger, Thomas, Richard, Joseph, Isaac, Nathaniel, Jonathan, and Lewis are some of the Christian names most highly favored by the family for its male members.

Two of the many members of the family who have distinguished themselves in various parts of the world in more recent times are John Fletcher Hurst of Maryland, American Methodist bishop, who was born in 1834 and died in 1903; and Hal Hurst of London, English artist, born in 1865.

One of the most ancient and frequently recurrent of the several coats-of-arms of the Hurst family of England is described as follows:

Arms.—"Argent, the sun in his splendour gules."

Crest.—"Upon a mount vert a hurst or group of trees proper."

Motto.—"Pro Deo et rege."

(Arms taken from Burke's "General Armory," 1884.)
